TOYS FOR THE TROOPS' KIDS Page 22

This February marks the 30th year of business for the Boardwalk music venue here in Orangevale, and this established venue is ready to make some changes. For the past 3 decades the Boardwalk has hosted countless acts in the rock and hip hop genres, with the last 20 years featuring its large open dance floor allowing for youthful and energetic celebrations of the performers on stage. Bar access is limited, as the venue is now mostly known for hosting the community's younger musicians and performers who bring a younger crowd with them. The Boardwalk is a place where many local musicians, myself included, got their start performing for friends, family and fans. It has also built up a reputation for great live audio quality that is admired even by international players that pass through the music club. In recent years the performances have been contracted out by a company called Boardwalk Entertainment, LLC, providing a smaller music venue for bands playing for the owners of the larger Midtown club Ace of Spades. This contract with Boardwalk Entertainment runs out at the end of December 2016, and the owner of the Boardwalk has plans to take back control of the venue. Mark Earl, Boardwalk owner, says it's time for a change in both the appeal and layout. He plans to turn the open dance floor into additional seating with tables for food and drinks to create a more relaxed music enjoyment experience. Also part of the plan is to attempt to draw in a more mature audience. All age shows will still be hosted at the venue, however more frequently the bill will include country music groups, cover bands and jazz performances to give the 21 and over crowd an alternative to the popular

ABOUT THE ORANGEVALE VIEW

The "Orangevale View" – the ultimate, award-winning community newspaper – serves Orangevale and surrounding areas, including Fair Oaks, Citrus Heights, and Folsom, CA. With a present estimated readership of more than 37,000, this FREE paper grows with every issue. It is delivered twice a month to at least 15,000 residents' homes and to more than 100 high traffic locations.

The views and opinions printed within are not necessarily those of Publisher Brad Tatum or the Orangevale View staff. Rather, the views and opinions expressed are those of each individual contributor.

SUBMISSION POLICIES:

Submissions from you, our readers, are always welcome, for this is YOUR newspaper. We await school, church, or sports team materials, anniversaries, births, special occasions, memorials, or other items of interest. Donations are encouraged and accepted for anniversaries, births, and other special milestones and announcements. Publication is at the discretion of the Orangevale View staff.

Requirements are simple:

- (1) Acknowledge that either you are the author or you have permission to publish from the original author;
- (2) Articles should not exceed 300 words. We like Community Calendar items of 45 words or less.
- (3) Format: Microsoft Word format with photos at least 300 dpi JPEG or PDF.

Please use this format so we do not have to send your work back to you for corrections.

- (4) The View does not verify the accuracy of your submissions, and in some cases, dates and information are subject to change.
- (5) Please email submissions, to YOUR newspaper. The email address is editor@ovview.com. It is you, our contributors, readers and advertisers who make the Orangevale View a newspaper you want to read.

Folsom or Midtown Sacramento clubs like the Folsom Hotel and Harlow's, to which Orangevale currently has no competition forcing Orangevale to travel elsewhere for entertainment. Starting in January the club will be undertaking renovations which will include the additional seating as well as many new updates. The owner hopes to finish the renovation project and be open as soon as the middle of February, with big acts in the works to welcome in a new and still familiar local music club for a 21 and over crowd. LETTERS TO EDITOR

The notice arrived in our mailbox in late October, and when I read it my heart sunk: A company called Turning Point was proposing to open a 15-bed crisis center for mentally ill adults on Elm Avenue, across the street from our house.

To say our family was upset would be an enormous understatement. We bought our home in August, overjoyed at the prospect of raising our kids in a peaceful neighborhood where we could have a horse and chickens in the backyard and live the country lifestyle we had always coveted. Suddenly, we face the prospect of a commercial mental crisis treatment facility a few hundred feet from our door – and right on the route our daughter was looking forward to walking when she starts junior high next year.

Everyone knows society needs more services for people struggling with mental illness, and I fully support that. But that's not the issue. The point is this provider picked the wrong location. The site is within a half-mile of four schools and is zoned agriculture/residential, requiring the operator to obtain a county exemption and special permit.

People move to Orangevale expecting a safe, rural community where kids can ride bikes, play outside and set up a lemonade stand on a sunny day. Zoning is our insurance policy, a guarantee protecting that sort of life.

Unfortunately, the proposed facility would change all that, housing people who have just experienced a psychiatric crisis and, according to the state, are "at risk of harm to themselves or others." There is no lock on the facility door, no requirement that patients stay on the property or on their medication.

What if a patient decompensates, hears voices and acts out violently when schoolchildren are walking home on Elm? Can anyone promise this won't happen?

I don't think so.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Letter to the Editor

As a 26-year resident of Orangevale, I am deeply disturbed by the recent article and subsequent letters to the editor regarding the proposed Crisis Residential Home, this program designed to help mentally ill persons in crisis safely and successfully transition back into the community.

Let me start by saying that there is not ONE of us who has not been touched in some way by mental illness, be it through an immediate family member, relative, friend or coworker. Mental illness is a disease, an illness not a crime. The Crisis Residential will house people who are CHOOSING wellness, who are hopeful for recovery and a safe transition back into the community, a return to their loved ones and a stable life.

Unfortunately, there are those who would say "that's fine, just not in MY neighborhood." The implication is that people with mental illness are all criminals and child molesters. That they should be rounded up and transplanted to "a more appropriate location." What you maybe didn't know is that there are mentally ill people already co-existing with you, for example the neighbor down the street who is schizophrenic, your teenager's classmate who is bipolar, the veteran around the corner with PTSD. All perhaps recently hospitalized.

As human beings, we fear what we do not understand. I challenge you, Orangevale Community, to set aside your prejudices and to help us stamp out the stigma of mental illness. To help us help the suffering.

Orangevale is a largely Christian community. I encourage you to re-read Matthew 25:34-40. Consider that you are there but for the grace of God

Congratulations to the Casa Roble JV Rams League Champions! An incredible 10 - 0 undefeated season under the leadership of head coach Chris Horner, and assistant coaches Bret Satchwell, Matt Satchwell, Tim Carroll, Cory Horrillo, and Tom Morris. Article and photos submitted by MaryAnne Povey

The American River College Beavers captured the Nor Cal Championship and qualified for the State Championship in Fullerton earlier this month. This is the first time since 1967 that the Beavers advanced to the state title! Although they came up short 29 - 27, the team played a great game. Congrats to the ARC Beavers including Casa Roble Ram alumni Sean Amos, Gabe Alvarado, Brendan McCarthy, Michael Povey and Justin Hollard.

“Fishin Time”

Hello everyone

Hope this finds everyone well and happy. Zing, there went Thanksgiving and here comes Christmas. Boy, the time just flies when we are busy, except when the fish aren't biting and you're trying to catch them. Sure can get real quite on a boat when that happens. As grownups we tend to be ok without getting a nibble for a while, children on the other hand have very little tolerance for not having something happen upon immediate water entry. How do we respond to “Where are the fish?” from a 5 year old, or two of them?

My favorite answer is, “Let's try over there and you can steer.” Any action is all it takes to put that smile back on and the thought of no fish is gone for a while. If they are biting then that's a whole different scenario. Just getting out there is part of the adventure for young ones. The site of a Deer, squirrel, or maybe an Eagle can really brighten their day and yours, so try to take a short trip to the lake or river close by, hold their hands, and have their life vest on when on or near the water.

Have fun and stay safe!

ORANGEVALE STUDENT REGCOGNIZED IN STATEWIDE AGRICULTURAL STORY WRITING CONTEST

SACRAMENTO COUNTY STUDENTS REGCOGNIZED IN STATEWIDE AGRICULTURAL STORY WRITING CONTEST

SACRAMENTO, CA- Three Sacramento County students have been named regional winners of the 2016 Imagine this... Story Writing Contest, a program provided by California Foundation for Agriculture in the Classroom. The contest is open to all California 3rd - 8th grade students. The following Sacramento County students were selected as three of the 46 regional winners from across the state who will be honored for their creativity and writing skills:

• Ethan Ho, Fifth Grade, Natomas Charter School (Sacramento), I am a Tomato

o Teacher, Donice VanGilst

• Cemara Carter, Fifth Grade, Woodlake Elementary School (Sacramento), Scarecrow's Mini Cabbage Garden

o Teacher, Lisa Liss

• Rachel Goveas, Seventh Grade, Seton Home Study (Orangevale), Happiness in a Nutshell

o Teacher, Gina Goveas

The contest aims to help students develop narrative and informative writing skills. Stories are written about real or imagined events, based on accurate information about California agriculture. With more than 400 agricultural commodities produced in the state, there are endless opportunities for students to develop their knowledge of agriculture and their creative story-writing skills. Students are challenged to research the agricultural topics featured in their story.

The contest aligns with current California Education Standards, inspiring creativity and critical thinking, while connecting students to the world around them. The program is designed to help students make a personal connection to California agriculture, a 47-billion-dollar industry. Teachers are encouraged to use the foundation's free teaching resources to introduce students to agriculture. Resources include a variety of lesson plans, the annual What's Growin' On? Student newspaper, and an assortment of agricultural fact and activity sheets.

"The Imagine this... Story Writing Contest helps students enhance their research and writing skills, while they learn about various agricultural topics and the important role agriculture plays in their lives," says Judy Culbertson, the foundation's executive director. "This contest gives students the opportunity to explore the world of agriculture." Awards for the 2016 regional awards will be mailed to the schools in January 2017. State winners will be announced on January 1, 2017. State-winning stories will be published in the 2016 edition of Imagine this... Stories Inspired by Agriculture, a book featuring illustrations created by high school art students. The new book will debut during California Agriculture Day on March 22, 2017, in Sacramento. For more information about the contest, visit LearnAboutAg.org/imaginethis.

So Just Remember....

SOMETIMES IT HURTS TO REMEMBER

This last spring, Raul Cornejo an Orangevale resident, ended up in the VA Hospital in Portland, Oregon. After a few days he was brought home to Orangevale and recovered in a few months. The stay in the VA Hospital around other Vets brought some old memories and a few tears.

Along came Veterans Day, and as we should, everyone was out thanking our Veterans for their service. A few more tears were shed. Raul was an Army Combat Medic in the Vietnam War, and as one could imagine he saw a lot for a young man.

Raul was born and raised in San Francisco and as he grew up he was interested in a career in the medical field. As some of us can remember in the 1960's, young men reaching 18 years of age were drafted into the military, and many of them were forced to grow up too fast.

NOW the remembering part... Our military today is all volunteer and we thank the service personnel for their years of service. When military men and women return from overseas they are greeted with waving flags and big hugs. When Raul returned from Vietnam he was greeted by being called a "baby killer" and being spit on. Remembering this brings more tears and sadness to Vietnam Veterans.

Raul's wife, Bobbi and her sisters, decided "this is enough" and made Raul a Quilt of Valor to thank him for his service. The quilt was presented to Raul at a surprise birthday luncheon. The party was planned by Raul's son John and daughter Kristina. The grandchildren Sophia and Valentino helped with the quilt. The party was attended by many close friends and family and this definitely raised Raul's spritis. So, yes just remember....

HOLIDAY TIPS FOR YOUR PETS

We all want to keep our family and pets healthy to keep the holidays happy. Here are some potential home hazards to avoid that will help keep your pet out of danger this coming season.

Decorations/Wrapping
This is supposed to be a fun time of year with decorations around the house and commonly wrapping paper and ribbon within easy reach of your pet. Any solid material ingested by your pet cause lead to a trip to the emergency room and possibly surgery. Especially dangerous are string or ribbon, so be sure supervise your pet playing with these tantalizing toys.

Plants

Many species of bulbs (iris, lilies, daffodils) that add some color during the fall and winter months are toxic to your pet's kidneys. Any part of the plant can be toxic so be wary of allowing your pet to even chew on the leaves. Poinsettias are actually not toxic, as commonly believed, but can cause stomach upset. Some types of mistletoe are very toxic to the liver so it is best to keep these out of your pet's reach.

Food

The holidays are a tempting time to indulge your pet with some scraps from the table. Be very cautious with grease or heavy foods (even turkey) as they can cause anything from diarrhea to life-threatening pancreatitis. It is safest get special treats made for pets if you want to spoil your pet this year. One common sugar replacer found in foods, gum and candies is xylitol. It is highly toxic, even in low amounts. It is also best to avoid allowing access to macadamia nuts or grapes/raisins. Chocolate is by far the most common offender on the list of holiday toxins to your pet. It acts as a stimulant that can, in low levels, cause stomach upset. Higher levels can cause rapid heart rate, tremors, seizures, or even death. As different types of chocolate can be more toxic than others, it is best to consult your veterinarian if you suspect your pet has eaten any amount. Provided by: David Herman -VCA

HOLIDAY LEARNING

Learning takes many forms - especially in the field of Early Childhood Education. One thing that we strive for here at Action Day Learning Center Elm Campus is to provide a variety of methods by which we introduce concepts to our children. This is one of our many fun filled science activities. This is a Candy Cane experiment with our Early Learners. One look at their faces says it all!

Orangevale Cooks

by Suzanne Feblowitz

Recipes just in time for the holidays! I recently received a few recipes to help celebrate the season. If you would like to share a favorite recipe, please send a copy to Suzanne Feblowitz at the Orangevale View (editor@ovview.com). Be sure to include your phone number or email with your recipe in case we need to contact you. If you wish to remain anonymous, just let us know and we will omit your name.

Mary Kay Loose sent in this low-fat easy-to-make cookie for the season.

PEPPERMINT MERINGUES

Two egg whites at room temperature

1/8 t. salt

1/8 t. cream of tartar

3/4 C. sugar

1/2 t. vanilla

1 C. chocolate chips

1 C. chopped nuts

3 T. crushed peppermint

(You may be able to vary the flavors by changing the candy!)

Beat egg whites until foamy. Add salt and cream of tartar. Beat until soft peaks form. Add sugar a little bit at a time. Beat well. When stiff and white, fold in remaining ingredients.

Drop by spoonfuls on lightly greased cookie sheet. Bake until slightly cracked. 250 degrees, 40 minutes

Lynne Miles sent in her favorite December recipes. Last year, her kids finally got to enjoy this adult beverage!

GERMAN CHOCOLATE CAKE COCKTAIL

3/4 oz. Malibu Coconut Rum

3/4 oz. White Crème de Cacao

1/4 oz. Frangelico Hazelnut Liqueur

1 splash half-and-half – approx 1/8 oz.

Combine ingredients in a mixing glass. Shake and strain over ice in an old fashioned glass. Garnish with 4 squirts whipped cream about 3/4 inches high at the 3,6,9 and 12 o'clock positions. One serving.

CREAMY HOT CROCKPOT HOT COCOA

1 1/2 cups whipping cream
1-14 oz. can sweetened condensed milk

6 cups milk

1 tsp vanilla

2 cups milk chocolate chips (Lynne prefers semi-sweet chips to make it less sweet)

Stir together the ingredients in a crockpot. Cover and cook on low for 2 hours, stirring occasionally, until the chocolate chips are melted. Stir before serving and garnish as desired.

GROOMING TIPS

By Kathleen Schults

I would like to talk about the importance of professional grooming during the winter season. While everybody prefers their dog's hair long because of the cold, not many people understand how to care for the hair of medium/ long haired dogs and cats during this time of year. Now that the colder months are upon us, it is especially important to pay attention to the condition of your pets. Colder months bring more moisture in the air which causes the hair to come together to create possible mats when wet.

KATHLEEN SCHULTS

small tangles that get knotted together are typically dead undercoat and debris that gets tangled to create bigger mats. As the mats get closer to the skin, they can pull on the skin and cause it to become tender, which results in your animal's discomfort. Where are mats commonly formed? Behind the ears, between and in front of the legs, in the groin area, under the collar or harness, and in the armpits. When brushing and combing are not on your daily or weekly schedule, depending on your animal, mats can increase in size and cause constant discomfort due to the constant tugging of the skin. Each time a pet gets wet, mats become larger and concentrated, causing more pain to the animal.

The importance of professional grooming on dogs and cats is because it can help take care of the matting before it even occurs. Most dogs and cats should be groomed every four to six weeks, and definitely within eight weeks. Most of my clients get their dogs bathed in between grooming six to eight weeks in order to maintain up the pet's healthy coat. It may be a surprise that short hair dogs are no exception -- Labradors, Boston Terrier, Pugs, you get the idea, all have undercoat also.

What is undercoat? It is the soft, downy and dull color hairs that often come out in clumps in short coated breeds. You may notice more shedding on shorter hair dogs such as Boxers because their hair follicles are on a shorter life cycle. It is the end of a hair follicle life cycle that causes all shedding. This is why all dogs and cats, whether short or long haired, benefit from professional grooming.

If we can help with your dogs this winter please give you a call at 916-202-9292. Thank you, and have a great holiday and New Year.

Kathleen Schultz, is a pet groomer certified by the National Dog Groomers Association of America, and an award winning competition groomer, as well as the owner/operator of The Prancing Poodle. COMMUNITY SPOTLIGHT

The Holiday Spirit: TOYS FOR THE TROOPS' KIDS

On December 12, 2016, Boy Scout Troop 134 gave of their time and energy to collect toy donations in the holiday spirit of love and friendship to children of military families stationed in Northern California.

Master Sgt Josh Baker, First Sgt, 222d Intel Support Sq, Beale Air Force Base and Folsom Boy Scout Troop 134 Scout Master proudly said:

"We're very excited to be offering support to the Toys For The Troops Kids (TFTTK) non-profit organization by providing volunteers to man the Citrus Heights collection site.

Every year they collect toys donated by the local community and then delivers them to numerous Northern California military installation children during the holidays. The CA Air and Army Guard and the Beale AFB families have been direct recipients of these donations for several years. Just this year, the TFTTK organization has already donated over 1,000 toys to Beale AFB for their annual Holiday party. The opening weekend the organization took in 15 bikes and approximately 500 unwrapped toys that will go directly to children of military members in the NorCal region; many of the parents are currently deployed."

The collection site is at the Citrus Town Center – corner of Greenback and Sunrise Blvd. Unwrapped toys will be accepted until the 22nd of December and will be staffed by various groups of volunteers.

The Toys for The Troops' Kids coordinator is Chief Master Sgt Deb Fordyce, Superintendent 222d Intel Support Sq, Beale

AFB.

Supervising the Folsom Boy Scout Troop 134 on the opening weekend was Master Sgt Josh Baker (Vice Commander American Legion Post 383, Fair Oaks) and wife Kelly Baker, Senior Airman Olivia McCray and Girish Kowdle, Assistant Scout Master.

The spirit of Christmas is in part embodied in the generosity of opening our hearts and giving to others in ways that show we care, be it a hug, a shiny toy or the precious gift of volunteering one's time and hard work.

The volunteers for The Toys For The Troops Kids and other volunteer organizations give of themselves and in turn preserve the beauty of what it means to be an involved citizen contributing to the vitality of our community.

A heartfelt thanks goes out to all who donated Christmas gifts to the TFTTK and to other worthy volunteer organizations bringing smiles to the faces of children and those in need of assistance.

'Tis the season to reflect on our blessings and to reach out to others. Merry Christmas!

RIDING FOR A CAUSE

In case you were wondering why there was a band of horsewomen riding through Orangevale on Saturday, Dec 3rd, it was our local Twin Lakes Riding Club (TLRC) collecting canned food for the Orangevale Food Bank. It is an annual tradition for the Club and a way for members to give back to the Orangevale community.

The weather cooperated beautifully and the event was a huge success. TLRC would like to thank everyone who donated and for coming out to meet us! We would also like to thank our members and helpers; Sammy Frey, Jackson Frey, Lisa Frey, Renea Negri, Adrianna Beckman, Sharon Fells, John Borges, Cassidy

About a week before the event, flyers were distributed along the route to give folks an opportunity to leave donations for the riders to pick up.

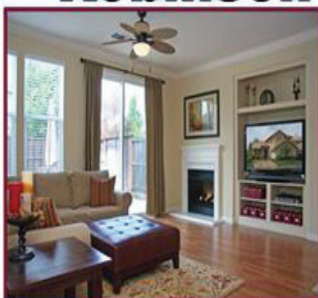

The horses were dressed in their finest Christmas attire, jingling down the road, stopping to collect the bags of food that were left out for pick up. The kids and adults who came out to meet the horses were dazzled by the all the glitter. There were reindeer antlers, Santa hats and bells worn by the horses as well as the riders. The horses certainly loved all the attention!!

Borges, Kathy Kneer and Lynn Shearer & her grandson Maverick for riding the trail, collecting the donations and picking up the road apples.

So watch out this time next year for those riders to be heading down the streets of Orangevale. Maybe if you are lucky, you will catch a glimpse of Santa and Rudolph joining the ride!!

For further information about Twin Lakes Riding Club, please visit their website at www.twinlakesridingclub.org or on Facebook.
