Dear Editor,
I think people shouldn't pass out money to homeless people on the street because you never know what they will spend it on. Instead of giving money to the homeless, I think people should donate to organizations such as Family Promise of Sacramento, Loaves & Fishes, and Next Move. I believe that more homeless people would benefit if we donated money or volunteered time for organizations like that. There are lots of people who want to help the homeless, but don't do it very often. If those people would do more than they do and become more active in helping the homeless, it would make things a lot better.

SENATOR GAINES SEEKS ENTRIES FOR FALL STUDENT VIDEO CONTEST

SACRAMENTO — Senator Ted Gaines (R-El Dorado) announced that he is hosting a Fall 2017 video contest and is seeking entries from high school and college undergraduates that reside in the 1st Senate District. The short, entertaining and creative videos will focus on the theme "The Bill of Rights & You."

"This is a great opportunity for students to demonstrate their video directing and producing skills and have their work displayed on my website," said Senator Gaines. "This contest celebrates the creativity and originality of our future leaders and I look forward to seeing what they come up with."

Participants must choose a Constitutional Amendment within the Bill of Rights and create a two-to five-minute video illustrating how it's benefitted them. The videos can feature live people, stills, animation — whatever best conveys the message.

Videos can be submitted now through November 20, 2017. Two winners — one high school and one college — living in or attending school within the 1st Senate District will be selected by Senator Gaines and will each receive a $300 cash prize and be invited to the State Capitol in Sacramento for a meeting with Senator Gaines and a VIP tour of the historic building. The winning videos will also be posted to Senator Gaines' website.

All details about the contest, including the rules and entry form are available at: http://gaines.cssrc.us/sites/gaines.cssrc.us/files/170901_Fall2017_VideoContestRules.pdf

Senator Ted Gaines represents the 1st Senate District, which includes all or parts of Alpine, El Dorado, Lassen, Modoc, Nevada, Placer, Plumas, Sacramento, Shasta, Sierra and Siskiyou counties.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

LIGHTING THE WAY TO PREVENTION

Wouldn't it be nice to live in a safe environment where you are less likely to fall? There are many home modification options that can adapt your surroundings to support navigation, but lighting may be one of the simplest solutions to reducing fall risk. While exercise and good body awareness are the best defense against a fall, a motion sensor light bulb can help to make your home a safer and healthier place to live.

Motion sensor bulbs not only use less energy, they know when you enter a room—allowing your path to be well lit without reaching for a switch. Dim lighting reduces your vision, while the right amount of light may ensure you can see obstacles and react before they become hazardous.

The right bulb not only reduces energy consumption and your electricity costs, but it can illuminate your surroundings to improve your quality of life. There are many motion sensor and smart bulbs available on the market for an average cost of $5 to $25. Next time you are purchasing a new bulb, pass on the cheapest incandescent light and try something new. Your local hardware store can answer questions about smart bulbs and motion sensor light switches.

For a free fall prevention workbook and to preview a never before seen documentary called "Before the Fall," please, visit eskaton.org/balance for a list of times and locations throughout the area.

One of Action Day Learning Center's students, Mason who is 6 years old was recently diagnosed with High grade B cell Burkitt's/Non Hodgkin Lymphoma. "We wanted to help the family so they didn't have to worry about money while Mason is enduring some rigorous chemotherapy." Together, the community rallied to help raise money for Mason and his family. Action Day recently held a car wash that raised $1600. "We had people just stop by and donate without even getting their car washed". Sunrise Little League which has many players that attend Action Day, including Mason raised over $3,000 with 50/50 raffles. Antelope Road Christian Fellowship hosted a Spaghetti Feed and dessert auction that raised $2400. "We just wanted to Thank the community for all their support. The family really is overwhelmed with all the support the community has shown them. They can't put into words how appreciative they are to everyone." CASA RAMS FOOTBALL OFF AND RUNNING

The Casa Rams kicked off the season mightily by sweeping the Bella Vista (BV) Broncos across the board, Freshman 36 – 0, JV 40- 0, and Varsity 56 – 0. The following week Casa JV and Varsity faced top-ten ranked Sheldon Huskies but fell short in both games, JV 32 - 14 and Varsity 35 – 14.

The Casa defense stumped the Huskies right off the bat and Casa scored first in what was a hard fought battle in extreme 111 degree temperatures.

“I’m extremely proud of our boys and the effort put forth against probably our toughest opponent of the season,” said Head Coach Chris Horner. “We made a few mistakes that’ll only get better with time, practice and experience. We are fired up for our game,” he added.

Casa faces Union Mine @ BV September 8, Oakmont @ Oakmont September 15, and Lincoln @ Lincoln September 22. Casa kicks off the first league game against Vista Del Lago

October 6 at BV.

FREE MONEY DOESN'T EXIST

Supervisor Sue Frost

Free Money Doesn't Exist By County Supervisor Sue Frost

If someone were to offer to give you a modest down payment on a car that you otherwise couldn't afford, but left you the burden of paying expensive monthly loan payments, repairs, insurance, registration, gas, and all other ongoing expenses, would you consider that car to be "free?" I wouldn't, and I suspect most readers of the Orangevale View wouldn't either, because you would now be obligated to pay for something that you cannot afford. Yet that is exactly what the Sacramento Bee is claiming when they suggest that Sacramento County has "ignored millions in free money for homelessness."

To fill you in on the backstory, there is a federal grant that local municipalities can apply for called "Whole Person Care," which would fund a program designed to help move the homeless people who use emergency rooms the most into more appropriate facilities for treatment. Sacramento City wanted to partner with Sacramento County to accept the money and jointly run a program. Sounds great, right?

Unfortunately, accepting this money doesn't make sense for several reasons.

First, this money isn't for ongoing funding, it's for a three year program - and after that three years is up we will be left to fund ourselves a program that costs $64 million dollars annually. We would then need to either boot the homeless back to overcrowded hospitals, cut funding from other countywide services like police and roads, or raise taxes. None of those options are particularly attractive.

Second, the money would need to be used in a way that isn't very helpful to Sacramento County. This is because the money doesn't allow the spending on the two things we need most to help solve this problem, which are mental health services and housing. We don't need money to more efficiently connect the homeless with services, because we simply don't have enough services to connect them with (as can be witnessed by looking at the huge waitlists we currently have).

And last, in order to get the money Sacramento County would have to match the federal funds at a time when we have virtually no reserves. There is a significant cost associated with participating in this program, in addition to the fact that if we couldn't demonstrate improvements in certain health outcomes, the federal portion of the money could be withheld.

In the end, Sacramento County decided to not apply for the "free money", and I am in complete support of that decision.

Instead of risking our money on this program, Sacramento County has focused its time and resources on programs that will offer more of what the homeless actually need. To help mental health we are investing in three new mental health crisis centers, opening a mental health urgent care center that can service 300-400 people, and increasing capacity at the Mental Health Treatment Center. And to help the housing problem we are creating a 24-hour homeless shelter to house 75 people each night, redesigning the family shelter system to provide housing for 33 families each night, and providing a shelter to high-risk families who cannot be diverted to permanent housing immediately while we assist them to find housing.

I recognize that these programs are not going to eliminate homelessness, because to be honest, we could probably throw hundreds of millions at this problem and still not eliminate homelessness (San Francisco spent $275 million on homelessness last year, and their problem is only getting worse). But our programs are a good step forward to address our immediate needs while also refraining from spending outrageously. There are roughly 2,000 unsheltered homeless on any given night in Sacramento County, and 1,000 churches - perhaps a good, free solution would be to proactively help engage the faith community as part of the solution and build volunteer support.

Finally, I want to invite everyone to my next Orangevale community meeting on October 6th at 7:30am at Annie's Breakfast & Steaks (8800 Greenback Lane). It will be an opportunity for you to get an update from me, and to ask me any questions you may have. Thank you for reading - and as always, if you want to contact me, call me at 916-874-5491 or e-mail me at SupervisorFrost@saccounty.net.

Sue Frost represents the 4th District, which includes all or part of the communities of Citrus Heights, Folsom, Orangevale, Antelope, Rio Linda, Elverta, Gold River, Rancho Murietta, North Highlands, Carmichael, Foothill Farms and Fair Oaks.

DON'T PUT OFF TILL TOMORROW WHAT YOU CAN DO TODAY

There's no perfect time to broach the subject of estate planning with your family. We all know that everyone passes away eventually, but many of us want to forget that reality.

When faced with the decision between taking initiative to start a family discussion about estate planning or putting it off, most people are more inclined to the latter. Unappealing as it may seem, the perfect time to schedule your family meeting is now.

Procrastination is often the biggest obstacle to successful estate planning. It may have been a while since your plan was updated or reviewed, and you may have never discussed it with family.

Contrary to what you might expect, the best way to begin, usually isn't to talk about specific documents like wills, trusts, and powers of attorney. Rather, it's to have a conversation with your family about goals, plans, and hopes for the future.

In the short term, you'll meaningfully connect with your family and express the care for them that your estate plan represents. In the long term, you can sleep more soundly knowing your family will be prepared to know you have a plan as well as the reasons you designed it the way you did.

It starts with meeting with your estate planning attorney to get your plan up to date and continues with a discussion about your plan with your family. It's much better to start this discussion while everyone is still here (and doing well) rather than waiting until after a loss or significant medical issue.

TIPS FOR YOUR FINAL WALKTHROUGH

As a buyer, one of the final things to do before getting the keys to your new home will be your final 'walkthrough'. So, what are some of the things you should know before you do? Here are a few things I share with my clients:

*Scheduling your final walkthrough.

The final walkthrough is typically done about one week before the closing date, but sometimes it can be done as little as 24 hours before closing.

*Why is it necessary to do a final walkthrough?

The point of the walkthrough is to make sure the home is still in the same condition as it was when you made the offer.

You will want to make sure all the major appliances and fixtures are still in place and that the home hasn't fallen into disrepair.

*What should you bring.

Generally, a copy of the home inspection and a checklist of things you want to make sure you check up on are all that's needed. Any red flags found during the home inspection should have been fixed by now, but you will still want to give the home a thorough once-over to check for any lingering issues.

*Things should you check on during the walkthrough.

Verify that everything is working properly. This includes all the light fixtures, major appliances (including the heating and air conditioning), faucets, garbage disposal, and toilets. Be sure to check all of the windows and doors to make sure that everything is in working order. Overall, you want to make sure that the home is still in the same or better condition as it was during your previous visits. Be sure to walk around the outside of the home to make sure that no exterior damage has occurred since your initial visits.

Once you are satisfied with the condition, your walkthrough is complete and you will be ready to seal the deal. Be sure to share any concerns you have with your real estate agent.

Orangevale Cooks

by Suzanne Feblowitz

The weather is still in summer mode, so most of us are continuing to enjoy our salads and barbecues. I recently received an email from Whole Foods saying that National Bacon Day was September 2. They included some recipes with bacon and I tried the one called BLT Pasta Salad. This was an easy recipe and it was delicious! Even though it had romaine lettuce in it, the leftovers were amazing! If you would like to share a favorite spring recipe, please send a copy to Suzanne Feblowitz at the Orangevale View (editor@ovview.com). Be sure to include your phone number or email with your recipe in case we need to contact you. If you wish to remain anonymous, just let us know and we will omit your name.

BLT PASTA SALAD
 ½ pound fusilli pasta or rotini
 ¼ cup light mayonnaise (regular is my choice)
 ¼ cup lowfat buttermilk or milk (I only have milk on hand)
 1 ½ teaspoon Dijon mustard

(I didn't have any and had to find a recipe online)
 2 cloves garlic, minced
 ¾ teaspoon fine sea salt
 ½ pound sliced bacon, cooked until crisp and chopped
 2 large tomatoes, diced
 ½ red onion, diced
 4 lightly packed cups of sliced romaine
 Cook pasta according to directions until just tender, drain, cool under cold running water and drain again. Meanwhile, in a large bowl, whisk together mayonnaise, milk, mustard, garlic and salt. Add pasta and toss until coated. Add bacon, tomatoes, onion and lettuce, toss again. Serve immediately.

PETACULAR

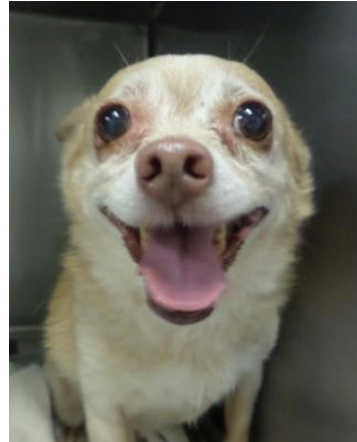

SHOULD WE BE FEEDING RAW FOOD?

With more and more pet foods being marketed, trying to pick one is becoming increasingly difficult. Grain free, gluten free, and raw diets are being advocated for all pets by breeders, pet store employees, and even some veterinarians. Who can you trust? Ultimately, you should ask a veterinarian you trust as long as your pet does well on that diet. Much like people, one type of diet is not a perfect fit for every animal. Some pets with allergies do better without certain types of grain (NOTE-grain free diets are not meat only. Most contain potatoes or some other form of carbohydrate). Some pets have to have a home recipe specifically formulated by veterinary nutritionists (yes they exist!) when no commercial product meets all their needs. Your veterinarian is the best person to ask about the specific health needs of your pet. This article is not to take place of that discussion. Cats and dogs both deal with the same health risks as humans with eating raw meat. There is no scientifically documented benefit to eating raw food, but there are risks. We see pets with both salmonella poisoning and parasites b from eating raw meat. You may have heard arguments such as "but that's what they eat in the wild" or "their stomach acids kill off all the bad bugs." Wild carnivores have these problems too, just not often enough to affect the population. Also, a wolf in the woods with worms is a different story than having a dog with worms sitting on your lap and licking your face. Although it's true that stomach acid is a first line of protection for any species, it's not fool proof. Canine stomach contents are not any more acidic than humans. Bottom line: once you find a commercial food or formulated home recipe, just make sure it's cooked.

OVparks Pecan Dog Park-Now Open

Welcome all community canine lovers to Orangevale's newest park addition at Pecan Park! Orangevale Recreation & Park District invited the community to celebrate the Grand Opening of their first ever off leash Dog Park on Wednesday, July 19th. The ribbon cutting ceremony with our Park board of directors officially opened the dog park to the public with lots of festivities to follow. Over 100 members of the community and their animal friends attended the event located at 5945 Pecan Avenue. The dogs were dressed in their favorite attire to compete in the dog costume contest and enjoyed some free doggie treats. Over 30 sponsors contributed in helping make the Grand Opening a huge success. The event was a way to introduce the dog park to the Orangevale community. The much needed dog park was planned with the help of the local community through the Pecan Park Master Plan Process. Pecan Dog Park has two sections, one for "Big Dogs," and one for "Little Dogs." At the end of the day, the trees shade the park, making it a very cool and enjoyable spot for you and your dog to play. Everyone is welcome to come on out and check out Pecan Dog Park with their furry friends. Come join us for some fun at the Pecan Dog Park!
