CONGRATULATIONS TO THE CASA ROBLE RAMS

THE SACRIFICE

To the Vet I've never met,
And to the Soldier I never knew,
For the life that you've laid down,
And the sacrifice we've asked of you.
You give us life with freedoms ring;
No one, nowhere can match,
And it's by your sacrifice,
That freedom's seed will hatch.
Through your spirit people see
The darkness fade to light;
The outstretched hand you offer up,
To give them back their sight.
Into harm's way you willingly go,
Without a second thought,
For it's YOU who pays the precious price
For the freedom that we've bought.
And, it is OF you, the soldier born
Of a spirit's gentle might,
That the wage is paid, the sacrifice made
To change what's wrong to right.
So, we weep for those who bear the scars
And mourn those who paid full measure.
And we salute all you who've earned the right
To be called our Nation's Highest Treasure.
And if your faith should wane a bit
From the things we ask of you,
Just know the we, The United States,
Have not lost our faith in you.
So, keep your eyes clear and keen,
And your focus sharp and bright,
For your Nation stands by your side
As we pray you'll be alright.

Congratulations to the Casa Roble Rams for sweeping the final league games of the season and advancing to the playoffs, the first time since 2013.

"I'm extremely proud of our players for finishing strong," Chris Horner said. "It's been an exciting first season as head coach and I'm looking forward to seeing how far we go."

The JV team wrapped up 6 - 3 - 1 for the season and the Freshman Rams clinched another league title under the leadership of Coach Vance Charvo, his second since joining the Casa Rams coaching staff in 2014.

Casa faces Union Mine in the first round of the playoffs at Bella Vista on November 9th at 7 pm. Best of luck to the team! Go Rams!

SACRAMENTO – Senator Ted Gaines (R-El Dorado), along with members of the Haggard family, other dignitaries and community leaders held a dedication ceremony today honoring country music legend Merle Haggard and naming in his memory the overpass at the interchange of Interstate 5 and State Highway Route 44 in Redding as the “Merle Haggard Memorial Overpass.”

“The passing of this music icon was not only a great loss to his family and friends, but also to his millions of fans around the world,” said Senator Gaines. “He was utterly unique in both his life and his music and I believe this memorial is a fitting tribute to him in Shasta County where he called home.”

Merle Haggard lived in Palo Cedro in Shasta County for years before his death last year at the age of 79. Senator Gaines authored Senate Concurrent Resolution 139, allowing this overpass to be dedicated in Haggard’s memory.

Although Legislative action is required to name state highways, state law precludes the use of state funds to pay for memorial signs. Luckily, Billy Pilgrim and Patrick John of country radio station Q97 in Redding took on the cause and spearheaded the fundraising effort by informing their listeners and selling t-shirts featuring an image of the memorial sign. The response was enormous and the money was quickly raised.

According to the California Department of Transportation, thousands of vehicles drive daily across the “Merle Haggard Memorial Overpass” and millions of drivers will see the signs each year.

“Merle would’ve been proud to have an overpass named after him,” said widow, Theresa Haggard.

Throughout his career, Merle Haggard achieved numerous hits including “Swinging Doors,” “The Bottle Let Me Down,” “I’m a Lonesome Fugitive,” “Workin’ Man Blues,” and “Okie from Muskogee.” These hits earned him multiple GRAMMY Awards, the Kennedy Center honors and various Academy of Country Music Awards.

Senator Ted Gaines represents the 1st Senate District, which includes all or parts of Alpine, El Dorado, Lassen, Modoc, Nevada, Placer, Plumas, Sacramento, Shasta, Sierra and Siskiyou counties

How Long Do You Keep It

HOW LONG SHOULD YOU KEEP IMPORTANT DOCUMENTS?

In a society dominated by paperwork, the question of how long to hold on to important documents has been baffling for most people. You do need to save certain documents longer than others, and—for financial and estate planning purposes—these documents should be organized and accessible.

Keep These Documents for Three Months or Less:

- ATM receipts
- Credit card receipts
- Receipts for small or everyday purchase
- Utility bills

Keep These Documents for One Year:

- Monthly mortgage statements
- Paycheck stubs
- Insurance statements and records

Keep These Documents for at Least Seven Years:

- W-2 and 1099 forms
- All tax-related receipts
- Bank statements
- Disability records and unemployment income stubs

Keep These Documents Forever:

- You should always keep a physical copy of the following items, preferably stored securely in a safe deposit box:
- Birth certificates
 - Social Security cards
 - Passports and other legal IDs
 - Marriage license
 - Property deeds and related

- mortgage documents
- Vehicle titles and related loan documents
- Pension plan documentation
- Insurance policies
- Estate Planning and Financial planning documents

Keeping up with documentation can be a challenge, even for the most diligent families, and even with the most organized systems.

Veterans Day is a holiday to honor all who have served in the United States Military Services, particularly living veterans. Lance Pyle is a local veteran and poet. His pen name is Peter Blueberry and he reads his poetry to the delight of children and adults. Recently, he read his humorous poem titled "The Tank" at the bedside of veterans at Mather Veterans Hospital. Lance is a Viet Nam Era veteran, Specialist 5th Class, Army, 1968-71. After serving his country, he became an architect but has since retired because of several bouts of cancer which nearly took his life. After years of depression, one day he recited a silly little poem to his grandson who commented that he should write poetry. That miracle day changed his life. He's been writing and illustrating his own unique brand of poetry ever since. Lance (Peter Blueberry) wrote a poem titled, "The Sacrifice" to honor all veterans and soldiers. It was honored this past September by being presented at the 9/11 Memorial celebration in Rochester, New York to all the first responders and their families.

CALIFORNIA CANNOT REMAIN A SANCTUARY STATE

Assemblyman Kevin Kiley

California Cannot Remain a Sanctuary State

If there is one thing Californians agree on, it is that our elected officials focus too much on political posturing and too little on the public interest. This penchant for putting political theatrics over sound public policy reached a new low with the Legislature's recent passage of a bill making California a "Sanctuary State."

Senate Bill 54, which I led the fight against in the Assembly Judiciary Committee, will move California's relationship with the federal government into unprecedented and quite possibly unconstitutional territory. Introduced in December of 2016, when President Obama was still in office, the bill upends what has always been a key area of bipartisan consensus: that immigration enforcement should focus first and foremost on people who have committed crimes.

Specifically, SB 54 requires local law enforcement to ignore requests from federal officials to detain individuals, before they are released from a county jail, who have both violated immigration law and been arrested for a crime. Such cooperation across levels of government has been standard practice for decades, yet SB 54 prohibits it in all cases where the offender has not been charged with a serious felony. Under the California penal code, that would include crimes such as assault on a police officer, animal abuse, and gang-related activity. The bill has received near unanimous opposition from law enforcement, who warn it will jeopardize public safety. Even Governor Jerry Brown balked at this radical idea before ultimately being pressured to sign a modified version.

The concern is not merely that released offenders will re-victimize their communities. The key issue is where immigration enforcement takes place. Federal authorities have long been tasked with finding individuals who have a criminal record and who pose a threat to public safety. This bill, by all but preventing orderly transfers of custody for such offenders in the safety of a local jail, moves enforcement actions into the community where they are inherently riskier and more disruptive.

I would not be surprised if the Sanctuary State bill is struck down by the courts or even counteracted by Congress. The greater challenge will be reversing course in a state that for too long has neglected public safety concerns and stripped law enforcement of the tools they need to keep the public safe. In the coming year, I will be working with legislators in both parties to put politics aside and once again put the safety of our communities first.

Assemblyman Kevin Kiley represents the California 6th Assembly District, which includes parts of El Dorado, Placer, and Sacramento counties. On Monday, November 13 from 9:00 to 11:00 a.m he will be hosting a community coffee at the Orangevale Grange (5807 Walnut Avenue, Orangevale).

A HIDDEN REASON HOMELESSNESS IS EXPLODING

Supervisor Sue Frost

Homelessness is on the rise in Orangevale, and Sacramento County in general. The issue is evident just by keeping your eyes peeled while taking a short drive in any direction. Not to mention it being constantly talked about in public meetings, newspapers, radio, and the dinner table.

The reasons for this include many things out of our control, such as: rising housing costs, stagnant incomes, savings rates, and regional and national trends. But the fact remains that data shows homelessness in Sacramento County is rising faster than our neighboring counties, with a 30% increase in the past two years. Some counties that have huge borders with Sacramento, like Yolo and San Joaquin, have even decreased their homeless population in the same timeframe. Contra Costa County, our only neighboring county with a comparable population, decreased by an impressive 20%. This indicates to me that something we are doing locally is negatively impacting things, and I want to take a moment to explain to you what I think that "something" is.

It all revolves around the settlement of a class action lawsuit against Sacramento County in 2010. In the lawsuit which Sacramento County lost, it was found that homeless camps were being removed without enough warning being given to the homeless to secure their belongings before they were destroyed. As a result, Sacramento County must do two things that other jurisdictions do not. First, we must give homeless camps 48 hours to move their camp. Second, if they do not move their camp within 48 hours, we must place their possessions in storage for 90 days and allow them to pick them up.

While the implications of these two stipulations may not seem negative at first glance, they have some major repercussions. Because we have laws that are less strict than every county surrounding ours, the following is an example of a scenario that plays out time and time again. Sheriffs in a neighboring county find a homeless camp with nobody in it, so they immediately dispose of the camp and clean up the area. The homeless individual returns to find their camp destroyed, and then hear rumors that Sacramento County won't throw away their items. In fact, Sacramento County is so lenient that as long as they return to their camp every 48 hours they have nothing to worry about, and even if they don't return within 48 hours they can always go recover their items from storage. So naturally, they move to Sacramento County and end up staying.

While this is all bad news for Orangevale, it does not mean things are hopeless. It simply means we have to be a more vigilant and proactive community to earn the results neighboring counties are achieving. When you see a homeless camp, report it by calling 3-1-1 or by downloading the phone application by going to www.311.saccounty.net. If you want to donate your money, please refrain from giving it straight to the homeless, and instead give it to organizations that help them improve their situation. This way you can ensure your money is going towards putting a roof over their head or helping connect them with mental health support. If you want a list of great nonprofits to choose from please contact my office.

Finally, I want to invite everyone to a special Orangevale Community Meeting I am holding with Assemblyman Kevin Kiley on November 13th at 9:00 am at the Orangevale Grange (5807 Walnut). It will be an opportunity for you to get an update from us, and to ask me any questions you may have. Thank you for reading – and as always, if you want to contact me, call me at 916-874-5491 or e-mail me at SupervisorFrost@saccounty.net.

Orangevale Cooks

by Suzanne Feblowitz

This week I have an easy recipe that I adapted from a few other similar recipes. It is so easy that I set the ingredients out and my husband made it for dinner last night! I had leftovers for lunch and it reheated very nicely in the microwave.

If you would like to share a favorite recipe, please send a copy to Suzanne Feblowitz at the Orangevale View (editor@ovview.com). Be sure to include your phone number or email with your recipe in case we need to contact you. If you wish to remain anonymous, just let us know and we will omit your name.

Baked Eggplant Parmesan
 Olive Oil
 ½ cup panko bread crumbs (Japanese bread crumbs)-regular breadcrumbs are okay
 ¾ tsp dried oregano
 ½ tsp dried basil
 Coarse salt and ground pepper
 ½ cup grated parmesan cheese
 ¼ tsp garlic powder
 1 large or 2 medium eggplant, peeled and sliced into ½ inch rounds
 2 large eggs
 15 oz. tomato sauce
 8 oz. mozzarella cheese, shredded
 Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

Brush a baking sheet with oil (about 1 tsp).
 Combine breadcrumbs, dried oregano, basil, parmesan cheese and garlic powder in a shallow bowl or pie pan.
 In another bowl, beat eggs with 1 TBSP of water.
 Dip eggplant into eggs and then into breadcrumbs; place on baking sheet.
 Bake until lightly browned about 20-25 minutes, flipping once to brown other side.
 Brush a 9 x 13 baking dish with oil. Place a layer of baked eggplant on the bottom of the pan, then add 1/3 tomato sauce and 1/3 cheese. Repeat with 2 more layers in the same order. Bake for 15-25 minutes until the sauce is bubbling and cheese is melted.
 Serve with a salad and garlic bread. Enjoy!

MEET TENAYA AND TACOMA!

Names: Tenaya & Tacoma

Age: 10 months Breed:

Mouse Sex: Female

Take a look at these two adorable mice! Tenaya and Tacoma look like they stepped out of a winter wonderland and are as cute as they come! Mice may not be the first thing you think of when you envision your next furry friend, but they can make very entertaining pets! Mice are extremely social and are happiest when living in pairs. Did you know they can communicate with each other using ultrasonic sounds! How cool is that? Mice are also very easy to care for. Many TV shows portray mice as avid cheese lovers, but they are happiest and healthiest when eating a diet of fruit, seeds and grains. Give them fresh food and water each day, a place to burrow, along with a wheel and a few toys and you'll see your new friends flourish!

Adoption Fee: $10 single $15 for the pair!
