FARM TO FORK IS CELEBRATED AT THE ORANGEVALE FARMER'S MARKET

Spring is the perfect time to celebrate our region's growing "farm-to-fork" culture, and local farmers markets bring fresh bounty right into our communities. The Orangevale Farmers Market has just begun its 8th season in exciting fashion - with live music, cornhole, and special guest the Orangevale Orange. The Market is off to a great start, featuring long-time vendors as well as exciting new vendors that are excited about the growing Orangevale Farmers Market community. The Dairy Queen on Greenback Lane is still the perfect venue for the farmers market, and every Thursday night from 4:00-8:00 until September 27th will be filled with the yummy happenings of the Orangevale Farmers Market (OVFM)!

Originally, the OVFM was started in 2010 by Joe and Cynthia Ellering, the owners of the Dairy Queen on Greenback Lane. Joe and Cynthia did an outstanding job putting the farmers market on the map for the Orangevale community and decided to hand over management to local long-time vendors at OVFM, Common Kettle Farm on Walnut Avenue. This relationship between two local businesses highlights the community building aspects that have quickly transformed farmers markets into a booming industry, especially in communities with close ties to agriculture. Current vendors at the OVFM, Matt and Marga Brunner from Common Kettle Farm bring fresh blackberries, pastured eggs and winter squash grown just blocks away from the market site. Along with vendors that have been contributing to the market since its inception, OVFM embodies the hometown feel that the Orangevale community is all about.

Patty "The Salsa Chick" is just one example of the OVFM's outstanding long-time vendors. She has been with the market since near the beginning, and has become a favorite among local salsa fans. She is back this year after taking a year off and says, "It was great to see some old and new faces, and I really liked and appreciated the comradery amongst the "friendors!" It's a small family market with choice vendors." Another superstar vendor at OVFM is Francois and Nancy Thao from Thao Farms in Wilton, who have been with the market since the very first year. Every summer Thao Farms dazzles OVFM shoppers with award-winning heirloom tomatoes and other types of fresh, healthy produce. Ryan from Sciabica's California Olive Oil brings award-winning olive oil from their family farm that has been in operation since 1936. According to Ryan, their 1936 establishment makes them the oldest olive oil farm in the country - right here in Orangevale for our enjoyment! OVFM is always searching for new vendors to compliment the market. A few new vendors this year include Freshway Fish, avocados and strawberries from Williamson Farm, pork and grass-fed beef from Monarch Farms, Nastase Honey Farm, and many more. Local crafters are also welcome! Sales and promotional space is available for established vendors as well as those that may be currently only be marketing online via Facebook or Etsy. OVFM's goal for 2018 is to have live music from local musicians every Thursday and possibly open mic days for local kids to display their musical talents. At our OVFM community booth, everyone is welcome to come make postings for events in the area or for your local business, so we can all support each other in continuing to make the Orangevale community a greater place to live.

Ovee at the season opening night. Stop by every Thursday

Orangevale Farmers Market will run every Thursday from 4:00-8:00pm until September 27th. Come by for fresh produce, fruit, prepared foods like tamales, bread and pastries including gluten-free, hummus and more! It is a joy to buy directly from the people that grow and make the foods we love and the things we use. Shopping at OVFM is the perfect way to support local businesses while purchasing superior products and having fun doing it! Please direct any questions about the market or becoming a vendor to Marga at info@orangevalefarmersmarket.com. See you Thursday!

ABOUT THE ORANGEVALE VIEW

The "Orangevale View" – the ultimate, award-winning community newspaper – serves Orangevale and surrounding areas, including Fair Oaks, Citrus Heights, and Folsom, CA. With a present estimated readership of more than 37,000, this FREE paper grows with every issue. It is delivered twice a month to at least 15,000 residents' homes and to more than 100 high traffic locations. The views and opinions printed within are not necessarily those of Publisher Brad Tatum or the Orangevale View staff. Rather, the views and opinions expressed are those of each individual contributor.

SUBMISSION POLICIES:

Submissions from you, our readers, are always welcome, for this is YOUR newspaper. We await school, church, or sports team materials, anniversaries, births, special occasions, memorials, or other items of interest. Donations are encouraged and accepted for anniversaries, births, and other special milestones and announcements. Publication is at the discretion of the Orangevale View staff.

Requirements are simple:

- (1) Acknowledge that either you are the author or you have permission to publish from the original author;
- (2) Articles should not exceed 300 words. We like Community Calendar items of 45 words or less.
- (3) Format: Microsoft Word format with photos at least 300 dpi JPEG or PDF. Please use this format so we do not have to send your work back to you for corrections.
- (4) The View does not verify the accuracy of your submissions, and in some cases, dates and information are subject to change.
- (5) Please email submissions, to YOUR newspaper. The email address is editor@ovview.com. It is you, our contributors, readers and advertisers who make the Orangevale View a newspaper you want to read.

COLE, MORRIS LEE

Of Orangevale, Died at home on April 25th 2018, aged 67 years. Born 24th Oct 1950, in Modesto, Stanislaus

County, CA.

Loving son of Darlene White Cole, of Orangevale; brother of Jerrilynn (Cole) Moorhead of Sonoma and Teresa Cole Woodward of Santa Rosa; half-brother of Mary Cole Kenady Jackson of Ventura; Brother-in-Law of Mark Thomas Moorhead of Sonoma. Loving uncle of Allison C. Splan and Garritt Stieper of Sonoma, Nathaniel Cole Woodward and Jackson White Woodward, both of Santa Rosa and a Great-uncle to Casey James Stieper of Sonoma.

Preceded in death by his father, Henry A. Cole in 1988; he is survived by many cousins in California and Oklahoma. His oldest living Aunt, Rosie Cole Troglin recently celebrated her 100th birthday in Rose, Oklahoma. A celebration of life will be held for Morris at a later date

GRANGES PREPARES FOR JULY 3RD CELEBRATION

The Orangevale Grange has been providing community service in Orangevale for 108 years. Continuing their community service, the Grange is again sponsoring a Free Community Fireworks Demonstration Show on July 3rd. The show will be held out in the beautiful meadow behind the Grange Hall located at 5807 Walnut Avenue in Orangevale. Walnut is between Madison Avenue and Greenback Lane. Families are encouraged to bring their lawn chairs and blankets to enjoy music, fire trucks and a FREE fireworks show around dusk. You are encouraged to come early to get a good spot and enjoy the snack bar hosting $1 hot dogs and snow cones.

We are excited again to have the Rythm Club Band as the main entertainment this year. Parking can be a challenge so come early. Many of Orangevale's wonderful local businesses donate great items for the drawings. So, come early to get a good spot have a $1 hot dog and enjoy a fun evening.

Again, this year the fire trucks from the Metro Fire Department will be on site allowing kids of all ages to sit in the fire truck. The kids will get stickers and coloring books and parents will be given literature on how to keep their family safe during the July 4th holiday.

There will be a snack bar on site and all items are a $1 each. All the proceeds are used to support the Words for Thirds Dictionary Project, The School Back Pack Program, Our High School Scholarship Program and the Orangevale Food Bank along with many other charities. After the fireworks display is over you will want to hurry up to the onsite fireworks booth to purchase the fireworks you liked best in the show.

The Grange is looking forward to a great turnout so get there early for the best seat. Come and have a dollar hot dog or snow cone at the snack bar opening at 6:30 PM, with the other festivities starting soon thereafter. The fireworks demonstration show will begin around dusk. For more information call (916) 417-9750. Please no dogs.

Assemblyman Kevin Kiley

Employees with disabilities are doing great work for California. Now special interests are after their jobs.

Three years ago, a Stockton health facility managed by the California Department of Corrections was in danger of shutting down. Inspectors had discovered systemic and unacceptable standards of cleanliness, putting into question the facility's ability to deliver medical and psychiatric treatment to more than 1,700 inmates. Desperate for a turnaround, management reached out to PRIDE Industries, a Roseville-based nonprofit that specializes in workplace training and job placements for people with mental or physical disabilities. PRIDE employees quickly brought the facility up to code, earning a 98.87% audit score -- and at $3.6 million under cost.

This partnership with PRIDE is an all too rare example of effective governance: a problem was solved by providing opportunity to our most disadvantaged citizens while creating value for taxpayers. Yet now, there is an effort afoot to put an end to it. One of the state's most powerful special interests, SEIU, has launched a campaign to dismiss the 121 employees with disabilities and replace them with the union's own dues-paying members.

That there should even be serious discussion about firing high-performing employees -- in particular, employees with disabilities who work hard to serve our state -- illustrates everything wrong with decision-making in Sacramento. After all, no one questions the employees' aptitude. At issue is that they are not SEIU members -- meaning SEIU doesn't receive dues from them, as it would if the PRIDE employees were replaced with its own members.

If the Legislature succumbs to SEIU's demands, it will be a huge loss for California, and for the tremendous PRIDE employees. As one employee testified at a recent committee hearing, "For a long time I felt like I was worthless and completely useless. I didn't even want to live. [...] Without this job, I'm pretty sure I wouldn't be able to stand here today and advocate on behalf of my fellow PRIDE family."

The good news is that it's not too late to save these jobs for the PRIDE workers. Though they lack the political heft of SEIU, their record has attracted the attention of a bipartisan coalition of legislators, myself included, who are championing their cause. It is too often the case in Sacramento that special interests dictate policy outcomes. We must not let that happen here.

Assemblyman Kevin Kiley represents the 6th Assembly District, which includes parts of El Dorado, Placer, and Sacramento counties. On Saturday, June 16th he will be hosting a community coffee at the Sun City Lincoln Hills Sports Pavilion (1050 Del Webb Blvd., Lincoln).

COUNTY SHERIFF IMPROVES HOMELESS RESPONSE WITH SMART PHONE APP

Sacramento County is attempting to improve its response to a growing homeless population and interconnect social service agencies with digital technology. Field officers who work with the homeless are now using a smart phone app that provides a large data base of social services and tracks homeless encounters. The Department received a Smart 50 Award for this innovative policing approach.

Over the past several months, the Sacramento Sheriff's Department Homeless Outreach Team has worked with software developer TerraGo to develop the mobile response tool. The innovative application has revolutionized the way field officers report field data and provides outreach information to help provide better services to the homeless. The software replaces cumbersome and slow paper reporting. The County Sheriff is now more efficiently linked with the County Department of Social Services.

Homelessness in Sacramento County continues to grow; with the current verified population reaching 3,665 in January of 2017, a 30% increase from the federal Housing and Urban Development (HUD) mandated Point in Time Survey conducted in 2015. Unofficial estimates indicate nearly 9,000 persons county-wide.

A disturbing trend is the number of persons who now sleep outside, over 56% of the surveyed homeless populace, an increase of 85% in unsheltered homeless. The chronically homeless, those disabled or with severe health conditions, is 31% of all homeless. Another troubling statistic is the rise in the increase in homeless veterans. The only word of encouragement in the HUD survey was the decline in youth homeless and families with children. New data shows that these sub populations are finding more transitional and temporary housing facilities. The total level of homelessness is probably higher than the PIT survey as locating the homeless is difficult and severe weather in the Sacramento River environs displaces the homeless and causes migration across the County. Sacramento County has recognized the importance of a better response to the homeless and sees the new digital TerraGo technology as a step in the right direction.

According to Sergeant Thomas Bland, Director of the Homeless Outreach Team, "the program allows for the gathering of information on reasons for homelessness, duration, drug and alcohol addiction... willingness to accept assistance. (It) allows the Outreach Team and our partner agencies to create custom tailored strategies to provide better services."

Supervisor Sue Frost

BRINGING COUNTY ELECTIONS OUT OF THE SHADOWS

By Sacramento County Supervisor Sue Frost

I think we need to make it easier for you to vote me out of office. Yes, you read that right - and no, I haven't lost my mind.

Right now, it is far too easy to get re-elected to the Sacramento County Board of Supervisors. In fact, it's so easy to get re-elected that no County Supervisor has lost their re-election campaign in over 50 years. This is not a good thing for the voters, and creates a scenario where County Supervisors have virtually no fear of ever losing their job. My colleagues and I should have to work hard every day to prove to you that we are doing a good job - the voters of our county deserve nothing less.

The reason for this absurdly high job security is complex with no single answer, but I believe a major factor creating this dynamic is how our campaign finance laws are written. Right now, a candidate running for County Supervisor is not allowed to receive any contribution over $500 from an individual. This was undoubtedly a well-intentioned law when it was written, designed to make it easier for "political outsiders" to be able to compete with "insiders", but over time the political atmosphere has evolved and this law ironically makes things worse. Allow me to explain why.

Sacramento County cannot stop an individual from donating money to help someone win their election, we can only limit how much money they can directly contribute to their campaign. The Supreme Court has ruled that people can donate unlimited amounts of money if they spend the money on behalf of a candidate, rather than directly giving it to them. As such, during competitive County Supervisor races, a group will form and give themselves a vague name like "Citizens for a Better Future for Sacramento" and then spend tens, if not hundreds of thousands of dollars to help a candidate. This is called an independent expenditure (IE).

While anybody can form an IE, the reality is that only special interests have the resources to do it. Some of these IE's are upfront about who they are and why they support a candidate. But some are shadowy organizations funded by wealthy out-of-state donors that hide their intentions. And often these IE's push messages that the candidate would never approve on their own.

This dynamic makes it harder for regular citizens to help a candidate, while political insiders continue to donate the same amount as they normally would have. Further, our low contribution limits have caused IEs to become more and more prevalent in Sacramento County elections. Many recent Board of Supervisor elections have seen more money spent by IEs than by the actual candidates themselves, something I learned first-hand during my 2016 Supervisor campaign.

Not only does this rising prevalence of IE usage make it harder for outsiders to compete, but it also makes it harder for citizens to know who is donating to a candidate. If someone donates directly to a candidate, it would only take you a few clicks of a mouse to find out that information online. To find who has contributed to an IE takes significantly more work, and even if you were to find that information you may discover that the IE donated to numerous candidates at the same time, which only makes the issue more confusing.

You may be thinking that even if we raised the contribution limits, IEs would still have a dominating effect on elections - but history shows that is simply not the case. Time and time again we have seen that contribution limits don't reduce the influence of money on elections - it just pushes underground into shadowy IEs. Donors prefer to donate directly to candidates rather than using IEs. Even billionaire George Soros recently donated around $400,000 directly to District Attorney candidate Noah Phillips instead of using an IE.

Our $500 donation limit is not normal. Sacramento County Supervisors have one of the lowest limits for political offices in Sacramento County, second only to Folsom who will be voting later this year to potentially raise theirs. The cities of Citrus Heights, Rancho Cordova, and Elk Grove don't have limits. There's no limit on Sheriff, District Attorney, or Assessor either - and the limit for Sacramento Mayor is $3,350.

I personally feel our low donation limit is bad for democracy and accountability, but I am your representative and do not want to push for raising/eliminating contribution limits unless the voters of my district tell me they want me to. Every time I write one of my columns I get dozens of e-mails from people who tell me how they felt about what I wrote, and I respond to each one of them. But this time, more than ever, I want you to tell me how right or wrong I am. I'm listening, and your opinion means a tremendous amount to me. E-mail me at SupervisorFrost@saccounty.net.

Sue Frost represents the 4th District, which includes all or part of the communities of Citrus Heights, Folsom, Orangevale, Antelope, Rio Linda, Elverta, Gold River, Rancho Murieta, North Highlands, Carmichael, Foothill Farms, Fair Oaks, and Rancho Cordova.

WHY MAKING CERTAIN REPAIRS ON YOUR HOME BEFORE SELLING CAN BRING YOU MORE PROFIT

Selling your home for the best price doesn't have to be a lot of work. However, there are some types of repairs you should make prior to selling that could add value to your home and increase your sale price.

Many home owners also understand the importance of staging their property to increase its appeal. A fresh coat of paint and removing clutter can go a long way towards boosting your staging efforts. Yet staging the living areas and fixing up the gardens to boost curb appeal won't hide broken or unmaintained aspects of the home.

Many sellers consider spending money on upgrades for expensive items in the home, such as the kitchen or bathroom. Before you spend your hard-earned cash, take a closer look at simpler repairs that could yield better results for your money.

REPAIR BROKEN ITEMS

Take the time to repair any visibly broken items. If you see a broken item, so will buyers. Cracked windows, stained carpet, or piles of sticks/leaves in roof valleys and gutters can turn off discriminating home buyers. Have your roof inspected and ensure your roof will pass at least a 2 year roof certification by a professional roofer.

FIX DRY ROT

Remove any dry rot or crumbling timber from your home to stop the dry rot from spreading. It is always recommended to have a professional do an inspection of dry rot and make the recommended repairs prior to selling. By having a clear pest/dry rot report it will enable more buyers the ability to offer on your home, as some loan types require this clearance.

Overall, by having the noticeable small items repaired as well as the major repair items inspected and the pertinent certifications reports completed, you're likely to receive a higher appraisal value. You should also receive more offers from buyers, which can result in more profit for you.

Orangevale Cooks

by Suzanne Feblowitz

I found this recipe in the school office! I was asking around for new recipes and Ottomon Elementary 5th grade teacher, Lisa Hoerner, gave me her favorite recipe for banana bread! Make it early in the morning before it gets too hot in the house!

If you would like to share a favorite summer recipe, please send a copy to Suzanne Feblowitz at the Orangevale View (editor@ovview.com). Be sure to include your phone number or email with your recipe in case we need to contact you. If you wish to remain anonymous, just let us know and we will omit your name.

FAVORITE BANANA BREAD

2 cups flour- all purpose
 1 tsp baking powder
 1 tsp baking soda
 1/2 tsp salt
 1 tsp cinnamon
 Dash nutmeg
 1/2 cup (1 cube) unsalted butter, softened to room temperature

 1/2 cup brown sugar
 1/2 cup white sugar
 2 large eggs at room temperature
 4 ripe bananas, mashed
 1/4 cup buttermilk
 1 tsp vanilla
 1/2 cup walnuts, toasted and chopped

STREUSEL TOPPING:

3 TBSP flour
 1/4 cup brown sugar
 1/4 tsp cinnamon
 2 TBSP unsalted butter, slightly softened and cut into small pieces
 1/4 cup walnuts, chopped

1. Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Lightly grease and flour a 9 x5 loaf pan. Set aside

2. Make the topping first. Add the flour, brown sugar, and cinnamon in a medium bowl and mix until combined. Cut in the butter using your fingers or a pastry blender, until it resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in chopped walnuts. Set aside.

3. In a medium bowl, whisk together flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Set aside.

4. Cream the butter and sugars in a large mixing bowl until light and fluffy. Add the eggs, one at a time, beating well in between each addition. With a wooden spoon, stir in the mashed bananas, buttermilk and vanilla. Slowly stir in the dry ingredients. Once the flour is incorporated, stop stirring and then gently stir in walnuts. The batter will be thick.

5. Pour the batter into the prepared loaf pan. Sprinkle the streusel topping evenly over the batter. Bake the bread for 1 hour to 1 hour 10 minutes, or until a toothpick inserted into the center of the loaf comes out clean.

6. Remove from oven and cool 10-15 minutes in the pan on a wire rack. Remove the bread from the pan and continue to cool on the wire rack. Serve warm or at room temperature.

PETACULAR

Name: Barabus
"Boo"

Age: 10 years old

Sex: Male

Breed: German Shepherd

Something Special: I know lots of commands!

We like to call him Boo. Such a gentleman and weighing in at 95 lbs. This handsome devil was mostly an indoor dog and has a stellar personality. Volunteers state that he is well mannered, good on leash, affectionate and responsive. He's a leaner too and look at that flopped over ear.

He is incredibly smart knowing sit, shake, speak, lay down, stay, come and wait. Brilliant! He is great in the car, friendly to people and other dogs and is an old soul. Look at those eyes! He is a bit older but still in good shape.

His only real unhappy moment is with cats. Not a fan! Because of his size, he may be better suited with older kids too. We can just picture him, curled up in front of the fire or on the back porch watching the sun go down with you.

Come down and meet this precious boy today!

Adoption fee: $110. If the adopted is 65 years old or more, we will waive the adoption fee for Boo

UNSEEN CAUSES OF ITCHING AND BITING

Gear up, everyone; flea season is upon us! Flea allergies can be tricky because, with the advent of good flea medications, we don't always find the jumping/crawling culprits of severe itching on our pets. Even if you don't actually see fleas, all it takes is one or two to jump on, bite, and jump off to set off the skin allergies that make your pet miserable. When you do see a flea, you are catching only 5% of the flea population. The remainder includes eggs, pupae, larvae and the adult fleas you aren't finding. We are seeing more and more pets that have never had a flea issue before suffer from these bothersome bugs.

Flea allergy dermatitis (FAD) is characterized by itching, hair loss and red bumps around the lower back, base of the tail, or back of the thighs in dogs. In cats, we can find these red bumps almost anywhere. The allergy caused by fleas can be intense and is usually not controlled with simple over-the-counter antihistamines. Once the allergies are in full force, your veterinarian can help you get the right medication to get your furry companion comfortable once again.

The best strategy against fleas is good prevention. Although shampoos are helpful for any fleas on your pet at that time, they do little to provide lasting protection. There are topical drops that work well for dogs and cats and even an oral pill that last 1-3 months for dogs. Just make sure to buy a brand your veterinarian approves as many OTC products are simply not effective. You should also reapply the topical product (except ones containing heartworm medication) after using a shampoo, as this will wash off most of the product, regardless of what the label says. Following these simple steps will help treat, or better yet prevent, these little creatures from putting a cramp in your summer plans!

THIS YEAR WE STEPPED UP OUR GAME

Last year was our first year to enter a float in the Pow Wow Days parade. This year we themed our float around our annual vacation bible school to be held in July. Our parking lot team offered free parking, coffee, and donuts to all parade participants and we added our men's group of bikers. Yes, I said bikers, you can ride a Harley and be a Christian.

Our congregation is a family-oriented group, and our church has been located on Main Avenue for more than 60 years. Some of our members shared their stories about participating in the parade many years ago and were happy to share this tradition with their children and grandchildren this year. It was music to my ears to hear the onlookers say "Look at that Camel"... then read our signage out loud. Our walking team distributed more than 200 bags of candy which also included information about our up-coming VBS and a free movie pass. We ran out of goodie bags about halfway through the parade route, next year we will need 500 bags because I believe the onlookers have more than doubled compared to last year.

What a great community Orangevale is to live in from the horses and orchards to the friendly people; regardless that it is set in the middle of a metropolitan area, this event confirmed that OV continues to have that small-town feel. Thanks to the OV Chamber of commerce for the effort put forth and a special shout-out to Pam Brown. We appreciate you! Linda Lemon - community outreach coordinator, Orangevale church of Christ.

LEARN SIMPLE QUILTING

Want to learn the basics of quilting? Come to the Orangevale Grange and learn from Suzanne Winters an expert who has been quilting for years. Classes start on Monday July 9th and will be held each Monday through July 30 from 10 am to noon. The Grange is located at 5807 Walnut Ave, Orangevale. She will show participants how to maintain and clean their sewing machine, properly set the thread tension, how to choose the correct tools needed for quilting, what fabric is needed for their project and what colors go together that will create the contrast in your quilt that will make it pop. Susanne has chosen the Nine Patch Blocks as the quilting project to teach. You will learn to cut accurate strips, how to sew an accurate 1/4" seam, the correct way to press a seam, learn about sashing your nine patch squares together, how to apply a boarder with a mitered corner. She will talk about backing your quilt and the different types of batting for your Sandwich. Sandwich you ask? Come find out what that means. Spend a few Mondays mornings at the Grange in July and meet others who want to learn about quilting. Class is limited call 916 988-8871 to reserve a spot. A monetary donation will be appreciated to help the instructor offset class expenses.
